

A House In A House

Terrence Musekiwa

Curated by Raphael Guilbert

8 July — 18 August 2019

A House in A House

is about solidarity and resilience shared across a pan-African landscape.

is a response to the immediate violence of housing demolitions both in Zimbabwe in 2005 and Lagos Island in 2019.

is the painful process of picking up the pieces of these broken homes and relocating elsewhere, often with no place to go.

is a protest against endemic corruption that leads to infrastructural lack.

is the sound of keke maruwa's croaking through streets, bravely going where they shouldn't; perhaps suffering from a chronic lack of belief in the value of human life.

is everything special where special shouldn't exist.

is begrudged trust within a system that has brewed mistrust.

is a mother's warmth in unfamiliar times.

is the strength of a space with people making beauty in it.

-

-

Ile kan ninu ile kan

jọ nipa iṣọkan ati Ibu gbe ti a pin kọja ala-ilọ Afirika kan.

jọ idahun si iwa-ipa lọsọkọsọ ti awọn iwoye ile ni mejeji ni Zimbabwe ni 2005 ati Lagos Island ni 2019.

jọ ilana irora ti gbigba awọn ege ti awọn ile ti o fẹ ati gbigbe ni ibomiiran, nigbagbogbo laisi aaye lati lẹ.

jọ ikede kan lodi si ibajọ ti o ni agbara ti o fa si aini pajawiri.

ni o jọ ariwo irin-ajo maruki maruwa ni opopona, igboya lẹ ni ibi ti wọn ko yẹ; boya ijiya lati aini igbagbogbo ti igbagbọ ninu iye ti igbesi aye eniyan.

jọ ohun gbogbo pataki nibi ti ko ẹe pataki.

Ti wa ni igbọkọle igbọkọle laarin eto kan ti o ti fa igbọkọle ko.

jọ igbona ti iya kan ni awọn akoko aimọ.

ni agbara aaye pọlu awọn eniyan ti n ẹe ọwa ninu rẹ.